DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings were received on 22 February 2006. These drawings are approved for purposes of examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-4, 6-8, 11-13, 15-21 and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kadanka et al. (USPN 5,621,308) in view of newly cited art to Mietus (USPN 5,666,046). Kadanka et al. disclose, in Fig. 2, a circuit comprising: "a band-gap reference unit (70 and 73, less 54 and 57)"; "a buffer circuit (57)"; and "a single component voltage pull-up device (54)", wherein the "voltage pull-up device" has a "transistors (54)". Kadanka et al. does not expressly disclose that transistor 54 has a "less than 1.0 V_{BE}". However, it is notoriously well known, as expressly taught by Mietus (e.g., see Col. 1, lines 56-67), to use a voltage of 0.7 volts for the expected advantage of using a lower supply voltage (e.g., 0.8 volts). Therefore, it would have been obvious for one skilled in the art to manufacture transistor 48 with "less than 1.0 V_{BE}" for the expected advantage allowing for a lower supply voltage.

Examiner has fully considered Applicant's remarks for the above rejection and has not found them to be persuasive. In response to applicant's arguments against the references individually, one cannot show nonobviousness by attacking references individually where the rejections are based on combinations of references. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981); In re Merck & Co., 800 F.2d 1091, 231 USPQ 375 (Fed. Cir. 1986).

Applicant also questions concerning the claim language stating "said voltage pull-up device acts to reduce a required supply voltage". Examiner is not sure what the question here is. Nowhere does claim state what the "required supply voltage" is. Thus, it can only be seen that this voltage is purely arbitrary. Clearly, the circuit to Kadanka et al. acts to reduce some arbitrary "required supply voltage". As seen, the circuit to Kadanka et al. is only seen to require a voltage having at least three bipolar thresholds. Clearly, some bandgap circuits require four or more bipolar thresholds.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
